BRIEF MENTIONINGS.

Events in and About the City Given in a Nutshell.

Young Men's Society of Zion Lutheran church will repeat the play Joseph and His Twelve Brothers; Sat made such a good impression last ear, at Arion hall, in the near future Hon. H. C. Showalter, of Harrisville who has been campaigning in Tr who has been campaigning in Hancock county, was in the city yesterday, or route to the Third congressional district. He says Hancock county will give an increased Republican majority, and is confident the state will give a large McKinley majority.

AMUSEMENTS.

"The Flaming Arrow." The forthcoming production of "Th Flaming Arrow," the new play in which Go-Won Go-Mohawk will ap-pear here to-night, Tuesday and Wednesday, October 15, 16 and 17, at the Grand Opera House, made a mar velous and instantoneous hit upon its first presentation in Chicago last August. The new drama by the author of "The Fast Mail," and "The Heart of Chicago," has been enthusiastically received as the typical American play for the critic and the public have been waiting for so long. The scenes and incidents of the piece are borrowed from the picturesque territory of the western frontier, and the story is as vividly colored as the lives sturdy and brave forerunners of civilization, our intrepld-boys in blue, whose penetration into the haunts of renegades and the savage Red Man was accomplished amidst heroic deeds of self-sacrilice and chivalry. The scenes for the stage settings of "The Flaming Arrow" have been painted directly from life by Buhler & Menn with the expert advise of Two Moons, the Pawnee Indian chief.

From a "Gallery God."

Manager Charley Feinler, of th Opera House, sent out postal cards the other day, asking the recipients to express their preference of one of four plays to be put on by Madame Modjeska at her forthcoming engagement here: One of the replies was as follows:

One of the replies was as follows:
The public's tired of chesnut plays,
Trot her out in something new.
She might make Engle's "Real Thing" go,
For Modjesku knows a thing or two—
Let her lead an Amazon market.
So she can put her shape on view—
Dress her as a fop in trousers,
Any old kind of a dude'll do—
Something to make the bald beads sing
"I'd leave ma happy home tor you."
But above all, Charley, me boy,
Be careful what you do do—so
Don't soak it to us at the door;
Will it be one case or two?

TOPICS OF THE SCHOOLS.

The mothers' meetings at Ritchis school on Wednesday and Thursday of last week were successful in every way. There was a good attendance at both meetings, and the interest was better than ever before. The points presented by the principal were as follows: First, the teachers and principal of the school recognize the fact that for the perfect success of the school in all its phases they are dependent on the parents, and expecially the mothers, and that without their hearty co-operation, the school must be a failure. No difference how good the teacher may be and how faithfully and hard she may work, if the influence of the mother be against her, her best work may almost count for naught. Second, as the con duct of the pupils on their way to and from school speaks either for or against the discipline of the school parents are asked to assist in every way possible to have that conduct just what it ought to be. The rules paronts are asked to assist in every way possible to have that conduct be just what it ought to be. The rules governing our schools require that the teacher, especially the principal, shall exercise a disciplinary influence over the pupils on the way to and from school, but this is almost an impossibility, as neither teacher nor principal can follow them after they get away from the school grounds, hence the help of the parent is asked to assist in having our boys and girls to conduct themselves properly while passing along the streets. Third, parents are urged to not allow their children to return home when they find out they are tardy. The teachers would much rather a pupil would be tardy than that he would be absent and miss an entire session of school. Fourth, parents attention was called to the fact that pupils in the higher grades cannot succeed well unless there is at least some home study, and generally the more the better. Nearly all the time in the higher rooms is taken up in recitation, and hence there must be home study.

Superintendent Anderson was present at the meeting on Wednesday at the annex building, and gave a talk that was greatly endoyed by mothers and teachers. Some of the points so well made were as follows: There is some good in every boy and girl, no difference how bad they may seem to be. It is the teachers' work to bring out or rather develop this good, and thus cast out the bad. Our teachers are all honestly trying to do this. If there is a teacher in Wheeling not trying to do this very thing he did not have a knowledge of the fact. If one is found he would surely recommend that her place be filled by some one else, He congratulated the mothers on the interest taken by them in attending the meeting. The teacher and them hencer are the great factions in school work and it is all-important that they work in harmony. He biamed no mother for thinking well of her child, but mothers must remember that the child must be disteiplined at school as well as at home. There must be order or ther true sense. If there be a perfect under-standing between parent and teacher and that hearty co-operation which and that hearty co-operation which naturally comes from this understand-ing, there will be no trouble as far as the discipline of the school is concerned, All concerned are pleased with these, the first mothers' meetings of the year, and they are expected to grow in in terest as the year advances.

The regular monthly meeting of the C and D teachers of Ritchie school was held in the office of the principal on Wednesday morning of last week. All the teachers were present. Superinten-dent Anderson spoke on the relation of the teacher and pupil to each other. He gave some sound and wholesome stent Anderson spoke on the relation of the teacher and pupil to cach other. He gave some sound and wholesome advice to the teacher along the line of character building, which is by odds the highest aim in teaching. As the sculptor by the master strokes of his chisel brings the angel from the marble block, so the teacher can bring the angel from the child's mind, and suppress the evil that we all have within us. It is very important in the great work of teaching that the teacher cultivate the Christian virtues in herself, and thus keep in subjection anything that might lower her in the estimation of the pupil. Teachers are read by their pupils. If there exists the respect and love that should exist between teacher and pupil, the teacher's every act is noted and very often copied by the pupil. Teachers, remember we are sowing seed from which will some day be reaped a harvest. Shall it be one of which we will not be ashamed?

Every Friday afternoon a division of the Longfellow Literary Society of Ritchie school gives a performance, Ritchie school gives a consisting of essays, recitations, songs consisting of essays, recitations, songs and instrumental music. On last Friday afternoon the performance was given by the fourth class, and every selection was well rendered. The society is divided into four classes, and there is a good natured rivalry between the classes as to which can give the best performance. The result is that on every Friday afternoon there is an entertainment worth hearing. Many visitors attend.

The purpose of the recitation is given by Dr. Harris, United States commissioner of education, in the following twelve statements. The are worthy of the careful consideration of every 1-To draw out each pupil's view on

A letter from Prof. J. B. McClure, of Dingess, informs the writer and any other friends of Wheeling, that he is safe at home and hard at work in his school. He speaks in the highest terms of his visit to Wheeling and especially to the schools. Whether he lost his heart to any of the school marms time alone will tell. If he did no doubt he will visit us again soon. The professor is a bachelor well worth catching, but as he has spent so many years in single blessedness he may be hard to catch, though rumor has it that he is already eaught and is just waiting the sacrifice. He is perfectly willing to be offered up. Here's success to you, professor, let it be as it may.
